

We will be studying and working on many new and exciting things this year. Third grade is a year of transition from the development of skills to the development of independence. It is a time for students to begin to assume more responsibility for their learning and their behavior.

Students are expected to participate in class, follow classroom and school rules, use good manners, and complete all assignments, including homework.

