

Bellevue Elementary News

Bellevue City School District, Bellevue Ohio

May 2018

From the desks of the principals:

Schools across the country are reporting an increase in students making threatening statements. We have also seen an increase in verbal threats. To counteract this increase we are holding educational sessions with all children at BES where we review:

- What is a threat? (examples)
- The importance of reporting threats
- Consequences
- Alternative ways for children to communicate their frustration:

⇒ I feel ____ when _____ and I want _____.

⇒ Bug & Wish statements: It bugs me when ____, I wish that _____.

Please partner with us and talk to your own children about your expectations in this area.

Bellevue City Schools are also committed to retraining all staff members on revised threat assessment protocols. In addition, the Educators School Safety Network will be providing additional resources and training for all employees in August 2018.

With Children at Heart,

Are you enjoying your children ? Parenting is hard, but it can be easier when you enjoy your kids.

Enjoy Your Kids... an excerpt from a blog by David Geurin

“The quickest way to change another person's behavior is to change your behavior towards them. Kids are going to make mistakes. But if you make it a point to enjoy being with them, and treat them with great respect and care, there is almost no mistake you can't correct. They'll be far more open to your feedback when they feel that you like them and enjoy them.”
